Self-introduction:

During my undergraduate studies, I joined my advisor′ s studio and assisted team members in producing project content. In group assignments, I often served as the primary contributor, which helped me gain a deeper understanding of modeling and related workflows. I frequently used Maya to create models in my coursework and continued practicing modeling in my spare time. These experiences fostered my strong interest and passion for modeling, the Unreal Engine, and other related software, further strengthening my determination to pursue advanced studies in game design.

Professional skill:

I am proficient in using software such as Maya, the Unreal Engine, scene construction tools, Photoshop, Illustrator, InDesign, Procreate, and Substance Painter.
